NAS Organisation Feedback Policy

The National Advocacy Service for People with Disabilities (NAS) provides an independent, confidential, and free, issues-based representative advocacy service that works exclusively for the person with a disability using the service and adheres to the highest professional standards.

In addition, the organisation provides an independent, confidential and free Patient Advocacy Service that works to support and empower all patients in public acute hospitals and Nursing homes through the (i) HSE Complaints Process 'Your Service Your Say' and (ii) in the aftermath of Patient Safety Incidents.

Within this Policy, Organisation refers to the National Advocacy Service for People with Disabilities (NAS), which incorporates both NAS and PAS.

1. Purpose

This policy relates directly to the organisations core principles of Equality, Respect and Empowerment. The purpose of this policy is to state the organisations commitment to obtaining and using feedback from people who use or interact with the service to improve service delivery and to ensure that the service is accessible and effective for everyone.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all enquiries handled and cases taken by the organisation and to policy and resource allocation decisions by organisation management to the design and operation of policies.

3. Background and Guiding Principles

- 3.1 The Organisation recognises the importance of feedback in developing and maintaining quality services, which are responsive to the needs of the people who use them.
- 3.2 The Organisation is committed to equal opportunities both as a core value and in accordance with equality legislation (Equality Acts, consolidated 2004). This means that no group of people with disabilities will be directly or indirectly excluded from service, or receive a lesser quality of service. Feedback is an essential element of monitoring equal opportunities. The Organisation is committed to ensuring that people who communicate differently are facilitated wherever possible to give feedback and that where feedback cannot be obtained directly from the person, feedback from those who know them may be used to evaluate that person's experience of the service.

4. Providing Opportunities for Feedback

- 4.1 At the end of the advocacy process, wherever possible, advocates will let the person know that their feedback on the service would be valued and discuss with them how they would like to give feedback. The advocate will provide the person with the feedback form or easy to read feedback form (see Appendices) for the relevant service, along with a stamped addressed envelope for return to the Line Manager. If the person wishes to offer their feedback through the advocate, the advocate will discuss this with their Line Manager. The Organisation will promote a neutral feedback process (via Line Manager).
- 4.2 Organisation management will recognise the need for Advocates to allocate time to obtain feedback on all cases and that extra time may be required to facilitate feedback from someone who communicates differently.
- 4.3 Feedback forms will be available in various formats, and will consist of questions with yes/no answers with an option for more detail if the person wishes. Feedback forms will include a question on how the person felt about how communication was handled. Feedback may be offered anonymously. Feedback forms will offer the person the opportunity to speak directly with the Line Manager if they wish.
- 4.4 The Organisation is committed to facilitating all people who engage with the service to give their feedback. Any feedback, in any format, offered at any stage of the advocacy process will be recorded. All feedback, in any format, is captured monthly on the template provided and is submitted to the relevant Line Manager.
- 4.5 Where a person requires assistance in order to give feedback, organisation staff will,

with their agreement, try to identify someone with whom they have good communication who will support them to give feedback. If the person wishes to offer their feedback through the organisation staff member this is acceptable, but it would be preferable if a neutral person were involved.

- 4.6 Where an advocate has not been able to establish sufficient communication with the person to enable feedback, they will consider looking for third party feedback from people who know the person well e.g. on how the person responded during and after the advocate's visits and how they responded to any interventions brought about by the advocate. This will be recorded as third-party feedback. The third party will be offered the opportunity to complete a feedback form and/or to speak directly to the Line Manager.
- 4.7 While feedback is important, it is also important that no one should be pressured into giving feedback. There may be exceptional circumstances in which it is not appropriate to seek feedback from a person – Such instances must be discussed with a line manager. If possible the person should be offered another opportunity to give feedback in the manner which suits them best.
- 4.8 Anyone who has had contact with the service may offer feedback on their experience.

5. Management of Feedback

- 5.1. Organisation management will ensure that feedback is collated and reviewed and that staff are aware of positive and negative feedback on their work and that learning is applied both to individual staff through support and supervision and, where appropriate organisationally, so as to improve service provision.
- 5.2 Feedback will be treated in accordance with the Confidentiality Policy. If feedback is being used at management or Board level to inform policy or service development, it will be anonymised.

- 5.3 Organisation management supply monthly information on feedback received via identified reporting template to National Manager. Once a month, Senior Management team discuss feedback in compliance with the Charities Governance Code.
